

For Immediate Release

Tuesday April 4, 2017

Contact: Laura Dixon

Mobile: 510-384-3020

News Statement

NATIONAL CRIME VICTIMS' RIGHTS WEEK: April 2-8

SACRAMENTO – Today, Chief Mary Butler, President of the Chief Probation Officers of California (CPOC), issued the following statement honoring National Crime Victims' Rights Week 2017.

“We join our law enforcement partners and crime victim organizations throughout the state and nation in commemorating April 2-8, 2017 as National Crime Victims' Rights Week. Our mission as probation departments is to protect our communities. We have great respect and admiration for those individuals and their families who so bravely deal with the life changing event of being a victim of crime. To honor those victims, we will continue to do everything within our power to restore those who have suffered from a crime and prevent future victimization.”

###